The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 5-13, 17-24, & 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Adams 6,077,180.

Adams shows an arrow head including a body having a shank 14, a penetrating end 22, and a shank 12; a continuous circumferential lip 23 defined on the body; and blades 26 having a leading edge 28 received in the circumferential lip. The shank 12 appears to be integral with the body 14. Additionally, the assembly of the penetrating tip 22 with the body is considered to be "one-piece" since the parts are rigidly joined; a "one-piece" device does not preclude joined subcomponents.

Claims 2-4, 14-16, & 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Adams in view of Armstrong et al 6,554,727.

The tip of the arrow head of Adams includes tapered surfaces 41 which appear to be at a substantial angle; it may be difficult for the arrowhead to penetrate a target. Armstrong shows that a tip of an arrowhead may include a sharp blade 14 received in a slot and held with a fastener 27. This blade would more easily penetrate a target. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the arrowhead of Adams with this blade of Armstrong.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
